Ministry Purposes

The purposes of the Ministry of Labour are:

- To promote harmonious relationships between employers and workers.
- To ensure that workers enjoy basic standards of working conditions, compensation and a healthy, safe working environment.
- To promote the ability of workers to meet work, family and community responsibilities.
- To ensure that employment pension plans meet basic standards in providing retirement incomes for workers and retired persons.
- To promote entry level trades training and apprenticeship training to ensure British Columbians have the necessary skills to perform quality work.

Ministry highlights

- In June 2000, the ministry worked with Industry Training and Apprenticeship Commission and the Ministry of Advanced Education, Training and Technology to amend the automotive trade definitions under the Industry Training and Apprenticeship Regulation. The definitions under this regulation define the trades for which trade certification is compulsory in British Columbia. Specifically, the amendment clarified that trade certification is only compulsory for Automotive Service Technicians working in the retail sector. It also amended the definition of an Automotive Refinishing Technician to recognize the existence of a newly designated, non-compulsory trade, Automotive Refinishing Prep. Technician.
- In April 2000, the ministry assisted with the development of the Public Education Support Staff Collective Bargaining Assistance Act. Under this Act, the Minister of Labour appointed an Industrial Inquiry Commission (IIC) to work with employers and unions to reach a collective agreement for support workers in the K-12 sector. The minister also appointed an IIC to examine the structure, practices and procedures for support staff bargaining for the province's public school system.
- The ministry conducted public consultations with key stakeholders to review B.C.'s minimum wage. In cooperation with stakeholders, a Regulatory Impact Statement and research documents for use by the general public on issues related to B.C.'s minimum wage were prepared. Amendments to the Employment Standards Regulation adjusted minimum wage to $7.60 effective November 1, 2000 and $8.00 effective November 1, 2001.
- Amendments to the Employment Standards Act to ensure parental leave provisions were enhanced to match the new federal Employment Insurance parental benefit period.
- A call for public submissions on family leave provisions under the Employment Standards Act was undertaken in cooperation with the Ministry of Women's Equality.
- Working with the Ministry of Finance's Streamlining Initiative and Business Task Force the ministry evaluated new ways to cut unnecessary or burdensome regulations.

Pension Standards Branch

The Superintendent of Pensions and the Pension Standards Branch are responsible for the administration of the Pension Benefits Standards Act.

The Act is designed to protect the interests of British Columbia pension plan members by setting minimum standards for British Columbia pension plans in areas such as funding, disclosure to members, eligibility, vesting, survivor benefits and portability.

GOAL: Appropriate and effective systems are in place to facilitate healthy and safe workplaces

The Workers' Compensation Board (an independent agency) is responsible for administering the Workers Compensation Act, including developing and enforcing occupational health and safety regulations. While major objectives such as reducing the rate of workplace injury and days lost due to workplace accidents are more appropriately identified and measured by the Board, there are some areas where the ministry can contribute to the overall goal of healthy, safe and productive workplaces. The ministry is able to contribute to this goal in meaningful ways through advisory services for workers and employers, as well as by developing legislation as required.

Outcome: Healthy and safe workplaces.

Output: A reduction in the Workers' Compensation Board (WCB) all-industry injury and illness rate.

GOAL – Harmonious relationships between employers and employees

The Ministry of Labour is responsible for the Employment Standards Act, which sets minimum standards of compensation and working conditions for most employees in B.C. The ministry's Employment Standards Branch administers this Act.

The ministry is also responsible for the Labour Relations Code, which governs all aspects of collective bargaining amongst the provincially regulated employers and employees to whom the Code applies. The Code also establishes the Labour Relations Board, which has exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine applications and complaints under the Code and to make orders that it deems appropriate.

Through this legislation, as well as through targeted employment standards initiatives, the ministry works to promote an environment where employers and employees can work together harmoniously; where workers rights are protected and businesses are able to grow and create jobs.

OBJECTIVE

Compliance with the Employment Standards Act.

STRATEGY

Raise awareness of employment standards through publications, education, and website development.

Provide investigation and settlement services, and dispute resolution for employment standards complaints.

OBJECTIVE

Workers are able to effectively balance work and family responsibilities.

STRATEGY

Make balancing work and family a consideration in all employment standards legislative and policy decisions.

Look at ways to ensure that industries can grow and create jobs while continuing to protect workers by listening to issues raised by employees and employers, and by monitoring initiatives in other jurisdictions.

OBJECTIVE

Effective and accessible service to clients with employment standards questions and complaints.

STRATEGY

Promote early intervention where disputes between employers and employees are resolved prior to a formal complaint being filed with the Employment Standards Branch.

Continue to send out bulletins and directives to investigative staff to ensure they are up to date on current issues that could affect the outcome of employment standards complaints.

Outcome: A fair system of dispute resolution concerning wages and entitlements under the Employment Standards Act that offers opportunities for timely settlement of claims, as well as appropriate avenues of appeal.

- The average funded ratio is an indicator of the aggregate financial health of B.C. pension plans. The funded ratio of pension plans is affected by many factors, including interest rates, investment markets, employment, and the decisions of pension plan administrators.
- The funded ratio is beyond the direct control of the Pension Standards Branch. However, if the average funded ratio declines, it is a signal to the Pension Standards Branch to increase monitoring efforts, and intervene where there might be pension plans that are not complying with the funding rules in the legislation.
- The targets are based on the economic and other assumptions commonly used in the actuarial valuation reports of these plans.

GOAL – Effective and appropriate support to the Industry Training and Apprenticeship Commission to allow it to achieve a successful, industry-driven training and apprenticeship system

The Industry Training and Apprenticeship Commission (ITAC) is an arms-length agency of the provincial government that was developed to enhance and expand industry training and apprenticeship programs. The Ministry of Labour and the Ministry of Advanced Education, Training and Technology have shared responsibility for ITAC. While the major objectives of the overall goal to achieve a successful industry-driven training and apprenticeship system are identified and reported on by ITAC, the Ministry of Labour contributes to ITAC's ability to meet its objectives by providing legislative and regulatory support.

OBJECTIVE

Well developed legislation and regulations that allow ITAC to meet its objectives and fulfil its mandate.

STRATEGIES

Work closely with ITAC in identifying legislative and regulatory needs.

Appendix 1: Glossary of Performance Planning and Reporting Terms

Annual performance Report:

A ministry document, required by the Budget Transparency and Accountability Act (BTAA), to be tabled in the Legislature by June 30 every year. This report may contain information normally found in a traditional annual report, with the additional requirement that a ministry's performance in meeting its goals and targets is emphasized in the document. The document must link directly back to the ministry's performance plan. The annual performance report for 2000/01 will be the first iteration to replace the traditional annual report style.

Business area:

A set of key activities or programs or budget areas related to the purpose, role and mandate of the ministry. Most ministries will have three-to-five key business or program areas; larger ministries may have more.

Efficiency measure:

Measuring the relationship between the amount of input (usually dollars or employee-years) and the amount of output or outcome of an activity or program.

Environmental scan:

Summary information for critical thinking about, deciding on, and preparing a future course of action. An environmental scan assesses the ministry's internal strengths, weaknesses, challenges and opportunities. The scan examines factors within the ministry that can positively or negatively affect its ability to accomplish its mission, goals and objectives. The scan also assesses external forces that significantly affect the ministry.

Full-time equivalent (FTE):

The equivalent of one person working 1,827 hours in one year.

Goal:

Goals are the long-term ends that the ministry (or a business or program area) wants to achieve in fulfilling its mandate and mission. Goals must be realistic and achievable.

Input measure:

A measure of the amount of resources (dollars and FTEs) used to undertake a function.

Mission: The reason for the ministry's existence. The statement identifies what the ministry does, why it does it, and for whom. It also reminds the public and other government entities of the unique purposes promoted and served by the ministry. The ministry's goals, objectives and strategies must be consistent with its mission statement.

Objectives:

Objectives are concise, realistic, results-oriented statements of what a ministry or program achieves in the short-term on the way to accomplishing its goals. Objectives must be stated in a way that clearly communicates what is to be achieved and measured or assessed, and by when.

Outcome measure:

Measuring the results and consequences or changes in conditions, behaviours or attitudes that indicate progress in achieving a program or ministry's mission and goals. Outcomes may be immediate, ultimate, or somewhere in-between.

Output measure:

A measure of the level of service provided by a program (i.e., what and how much came out of a program or service). The measurable unit can be a number, percentage or ratio.

Performance measure:

A performance measure (sometimes referred to as an indicator) can be used to indicate the degree of success a ministry has in achieving its goals and objectives. When a measure has a specific numeric value attached to one aspect of the performance under consideration, it is then typically referred to as a performance indicator.

Performance plan:

A plan that describes a ministry's purpose or mission, its direction or vision, its goals and objectives, the operational strategies it will use to achieve those objectives, and how it will know if it has been successful (i.e., through the use of performance measures and targets).

Performance target:

Targets express pre-set, quantifiable performance levels to be attained at a future date.

Program: A set of activities with clearly defined, dedicated resources and measurable objectives that are coherent and consistent.

Result: A consequence, issue or outcome of an action or series of actions. Often used synonymously with “outcome” and/or “output.”

Strategic context:

The strategic context of a performance plan provides high-level information that describes where a ministry is now. It usually includes a ministry’s vision, mission, values and environmental scan.

Strategic plan:

The high-level, government-wide corporate document that outlines the government’s vision, mission, values and key priorities for the medium to long term.

Strategies: Strategies are the actions that describe how objectives are to be achieved. Other terms used to describe strategies are programs, projects, initiatives and activities, among others.

Values: The value statement expresses a ministry’s core values or fundamental beliefs. Values define the ministry’s management style, organizational values, and code of conduct for personal and organizational behaviour.

Vision: A clear and compelling picture of a ministry’s preferred future, where the ministry is going, and where it wants to be. This vision must be sufficiently desirable and challenging to motivate and inspire ministry employees and influence decision-making.

NOTE: The two figures for union density reflect a major change in the way in which the proportion of union members is calculated by Statistics Canada.

Rather than counting the number of "paid workers" which includes anyone who was an employee as well as self employed individuals who did not employ others, the new approach also includes self-employed workers who also employ others, thus expanding the total number of workers counted.

It should be emphasized that the two sets of percentages are not strictly comparable. The new, lower union density percentage is largely a reflection of the changes to the definition of who is, and is not counted in the workforce.
